Subject: Implants and physical control of mind

For those of you who are interested in implants and the like, you really ought to read a book by Delgado.

Physical control of the mind: toward a psychocivilized society
Jose Manuel R. Delgado
New York : Harper & Row, 1971, c1969.
Keyword: Electronic behavior control.

This book describes experiments done in the 50s and 60s on animals such as cats, monkeys, and humans. They describe implants made into the brains of these 'animals' and how they could be used to cause certain desired behavior. Among the emotions that could be excited are rage, depression, and fear (and probably anything else) in the absence of outer stimuli which would normally cause such things. The implants were radio-controlled so the humans and animals could be observed while operating 'normally' in their 'environment.' It was easy to suddenly make a person feel bad, good, hungry, satisfied, depressed, elated--the only uncertainty they had was getting the probes in the right place in the brain during the operation.

At that time the electrical signals were simple radio waves at extremely low frequency--less than 10 Hz. (Remember that ELF waves at 60 Hz can cause disorientation, depression, and others when the intensity is modulated.) The author insisted that control of humans was not possible since the only thing they could do was vary the voltage and frequency--but that was 25 years ago. Even then, the implants were hardly noticeable and if wearing a hat, you could not tell--there were some pictures.

There are some interesting conclusions from the author regarding the 'value' of his studies to humankind. One thing he wanted to do was to find the area of the brain responsible for hate and anger so that it could be removed. Yes, removed. We would just be a race of groovy, loving, squirrel-petting good-people. That's just the kind of peachy world I want to live in.

I think you should read this so that you will understand the extent of human capabilities in this area of mind control through implants. This research has continued, you can be sure. Read the conclusions carefully, and you will be able to discern the direction of future research. The title should tell you something as well.

Subject: Noriega Trial

Dr. John Coleman is an expert in intelligence and is now contributing to the Phoenix Liberator. He wrote an article in the last issue about the Noriega trial. He talked about the weakness of the prosecution's case, the judge's behavior, and how the flow of drugs has increased since he was taken, after steadily decreasing while he was in power.

It's well written with some inside information from his own unnamed sources. He also talks about something called the Defoe Report which is unavailable to the public because of 'national security'--it allegedly details Bush's involvement.

If any of you would like a copy of the article,
I can make copies and send them to you at no cost.

Dr. Coleman also wrote a nice piece on JFK which brings up a British connection (MI6)--something I haven't heard mentioned in all this about JFK. The British would want JFK dead because he was going to start printing government notes rather than Federal Reserve Notes. British banks own a significant interest of the Federal Reserve banks.

I can copy it too.

Greetings! By now most of you have probably heard the announcement that some scientists think they have located 2-3 planets circling a pulsar.

From The Phoenix Republic (condensed):

This information was presented in today's issue of the journal NATURE. The 2 observatories that worked on the study were the Arecibo Observatory in Puerto Rico, and the National Radio Astronomy Observatory in Socorro, NM.

The 2 planets, and possibly 3, are orbiting a pulsar, labeled PSR1257+12, about 1300 lt years from Earth in the direction of the constellation VIRGO.

The alledged planets were discovered due to a 1000 miles wobble in the pulsar. One apparent planet, containing 2.8 times the mass of Earth, appears to orbit the pulsar every 98.2 days at about half the distance between the Earth and sun. The other planet, with at least 3.4 times Earth's mass, appears to orbit every 66.6 days at just over 1/3 the distance between the Earth and sun.

Results also suggest that the possibility of a third planet that orbits about once a year.

The planets may have a density and composition similar to Earth's, altho there is little evidence of that point.

But "life as we know it most certainly does not exist" on them because the pulsar bombards them with "a really vicious mix of gamma rays and X-rays," and particles moving near the speed of light, says Alexander Wolszczan, senior research associate at Arecibo.

End.

WOW! Can finding an Earth-like planet be far behind??

Not to rain on your parade, but the answer to your query is unfortunately, "yes, it can be." Figure it took us 300 years of astronomy just to find a likely candidate for a planet. Taking the technology curve into account, it may be another 50 or so before we find and confirm anything earth-like. But it COULD also happen next week....

A good book I have read lately is Titled 'The Dragon's Triangle' by Charles Berlitz, who also wrote the books 'The Bermuda Triangle' and 'Atlantis'. In this book, there are some accounts of UFO's being seen in TDT. This book tries to give all possible causes for the mysterious happenings in TDT and mentions the TBT too. If you are interested in such places and their possible connection to UFOs, I recommend this book to get a background in the sightings made in these areas.

Hi Mark,

I recently received the Nov/Dec issue of IUR, and as usual, thoroughly enjoyed reading it.

I did find something very puzzling however in "Encounter over Siberia", written by Richard Haines.

Vladimir Kuzmin, the Soviet....er, uh...Russian? pilot who sighted a UFO while piloting his L-29 jet trainer, seemed to recall the incident in splendid detail, except for one minor problem. He apparently didn't remember what day it was! Don't you find that a bit odd?

Dr. Haines begins the article by stating that the incident occurred "in central Siberia between 3 and 3:30 P.M. local time on December 24 or 25, 1989". That's only two years ago, and were talking about Xmas eve or Xmas day! Didn't he file a flight plan? How could he possibly not recall the day?

Perhaps it was Dr. Haines that was uncertain? Regardless, it struck me like a ton of bricks, and left me wary of the entire account.

Take care,

Sheldon

Some truth there I think, although I've found ufologists on the Subject: Maitreya 1/2

Date: 10 Jan 92 08:45:00 GMT

I pulled this off the talk.religion.newage newsgroup on Usenet

My comment: I first heard about Maitreya in 1981 through the works of Benjamin Creme and the Tara Foundation. There was hubbub at the local "New Age" store near me so I went into to find out and started reading some of their literature and bought a book while I was there.

Then from time to time I would drop by this bookstore and find that the Theosophy group (Alice Bailey) teachings were very specific as to certain of it's teachings on Maitreya, the "Cosmic Christ". I can cite "The externalisation of The Hierarchy" "Discipleship in the New Age" as examples.

What has been coming up from time to time is the reference to the _publisher_ of the Alice Bailey works..It was changed, I understand from "Lucifer Trust" to "Lucis Trust" in the early 20's due to public outcry, but this is all I know..If someone can produce hard references I'd much appreciate it.

In the Spring of 1982, after much hoopla, the long-claimed "Re-Emergence" that was scheduled to come off...came and went and NO Maitreya showed up..

Anyways,I'm doing an investigation into some links I see between this "Maitreya" and the Gaia cult and their influence on the UN..if anyone can contribute some info..I'd really appreciate it.

Thanks!

|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=| Teacher Returns

He has been expected for generations by all of the major religions. Christians know Him as the Christ, and expect His imminent return. The Jews await Him as the Messiah; the Hindus look for the coming of Krishna; Buddhists expect Him as Maitreya Buddha; the Muslims anticipate the Imam Mahdi. The names may be different but they all designate the same One: the World Teacher, whose personal name is Maitreya. He returns now, at the beginning of the age of Aquarius, as the teacher and guide for those of every religion and those of no religion.

Concerned primarily about the economic, political and social imbalances in the world today, He will first launch a call to action to save the millions of people who starve to death every year in a world of plenty. He will then show humanity the way to regenerate itself and to anchor brotherhood and peace in the world by creating a civilization based on sharing, justice and cooperation. His presence is our guarantee that there will be no third World War. Nevertheless, it is humanity itself which must make the required changes and fashion the saner and more just world the Christ will inspire us to create.

||| A Gradual Emergence

Information about the Christ's emergence has come primarily from Benjamin Creme, a British artist and esotericist who has been speaking and writing about this event since 1975. According to Creme, Maitreya the Christ descended in July 1977 from His ancient retreat in the Himalayas and took up residence in the Asian community of London. There He lives and works as a seemingly ordinary man. His true status known to relatively few. He has been emerging *gradually* into full public view so as not to infringe humanity's free will.

A modern man concerned with today's problems, Maitreya has worked on many levels since 1977 to prepare humanity for His outward presence. The continuous outpouring of His energy into the world is stimulating us to take practical action to avoid nuclear war, put an end to hunger and prevent environmental catastrophe. He has also met privately with groups of journalists and influential leaders from all fields, informing them of His solutions to today's most pressing problems and of the role they might play.

Within the Asian community He has addressed large audiences, presenting in the simplest terms the great spiritual laws governing our lives. And through steadily increasing signs and spiritual manifestations in other parts of the world, He has touched the hearts of millions.

A Major step in drawing the public's attention to His emergence was taken in mid-1988, when a London-based journalist received the first of many interviews with one of Maitreya's close associates in the Asian community. Released to the press and published monthly in "Share International" magazine since 1988, these remarkable interviews have included Maitreya's penetrating analysis of world trends, His forecasts concerning world events, and His teachings on a broad range of topics, from Self-realization to market forces.

As both the signs and documented accounts of appearances by Maitreya have multiplied, and as His forecasts have begun to come true, the interest from both the media and the public has intensified.

||| Day of Declaration |||

At the earliest possible moment, Maitreya will demonstrate His true identity. On the Day of Declaration, the international radio and television networks will be linked together, and Maitreya will be invited to speak to the world. We will see His face on television, but each of us will hear His words telepathically in our own language as Maitreya simultaneously overshadows all of humanity. Even those who are not watching Him on television or listening to the radio will have this experience. At the same time, hundreds of thousands of spontaneous healings will take place throughout the world. In this way we will know that this man, and only this man, is truly the Christ.

||| Maitreya's Mission |||

Many people await the return of the Christ with trepidation and fear. They sense that His appearance will promote great changes in all departments of life. His values, they rightly assume, will necessarily alter their ways of thinking and living, and they blanch at such a prospect. Besides, so mystical has been the view of the Christ presented down the centuries by the churches, that many fear His judgement and omnipotent power; they await Him as God come to punish the wicked and reward the faithful.

It is sadly to be regretted that such a distorted vision of the Christ should so have permeated human consciousness. No such being exists. In order to understand the true nature of the Christ it is necessary to see Him as one among equal Sons of God, each endowed with full divine potential, differing only in the degree of manifestation of that divinity.

That He has achieved the fullness of that divinity is His Glory, and well may we stand in reverence at this achievement. That this same achievement is rare indeed is also indisputably true. But the wonder of the Christ for men is that He was one of them. Naught there is, in the trials and sufferings of man, but He did know it. Each step of the path that men still tread has He painfully trodden. Nothing is there, in the whole panorama of human experience that He has not shared. Thus truly is He the Son of Man...

...let us clarify in our minds the reasons for His return. Let us understand the nature of the task which He has set for Himself. To establish in our midst the fact of God, has He come. To recreate the Divine Mysteries, is He here. To teach men how to love, and love again, is He among us. To establish man's brotherhood does He walk the Earth once more. To keep faith with the Father and with man does He accept this burden. To usher in the new age has He returned. To consolidate the treasures of the past, to inspire the marvels of the future, to glorify God and man has He descended from His high mountain...

...That such a task is not an easy one, not even for the Son of Man, is clear. Ancient habits of division and separation have strong roots, while fear and superstition cast their spell over millions of mankind. But never before, in the history of the world, has a Teacher come better equipped for His task. Maitreya has come to do battle with ignorance and fear, division and want. His weapons are spiritual understanding, knowledge and love; His shining armour is Truth Itself.

|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=| Who is the Christ? |=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|

In the esoteric tradition, the word 'Christ' is not the name of an individual, but of an office or function within the spiritual Hierarchy of Masters. The present holder of that office, Maitreya, has been the Christ for the past 2,600 years and He will continue to hold that position for the entire Age of Aquarius - approximately 2,000 more years.

Maitreya the Christ is the eldest brother in the human family, having perfected and fully manifested within Himself the divinity which is latent in each of us. He comes today to reveal a new aspect of divinity and to lead humanity into the Spiritual Kingdom, the Kingdom of God.

|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=|=| The Art of Self-Realization

I have not come to found a new religion, says Maitreya, the World Teacher. "I have come to teach the art of Self-realization," something which is neither an ideology nor a religion, but benefits people of all religions and those who have none. "I seek to express that which I am through you; for this I come."

According to Maitreya, "The Self alone matters." You are that Self, He says, "an immortal being." Suffering is caused by identification with anything and everything which is not the Self. Ask yourself, "Who am I?" You will see that you are identified either with matter (the body), or with thought (the mind) or with power (spirit). But you are none of these. "Mind, spirit and body are the temples of the Lord." The Self experiences in these temples "the supreme Being and Becoming of the Lord."

One of the easiest ways to know Me, Maitreya says, is to be honest in your mind, be sincere in your spirit, and feed your body with right food. Any action performed with dishonesty of mind, an insincere spirit and attachment is destructive. For example, when you think one thing, say another, and do something which is different again, you are lost. Honesty of mind leads to honest speech and honest action. This harmony leads to peace and happiness.

Without detachment there is no salvation. Detachment is the most powerful 'drug'. To learn detachment is an art. A scientist, with detachment, will learn the laws of physics and chemistry (the laws of creation) and will apply them, creating things which constitute God's work. The artist, with detachment, will be able to describe God through his own experiences.

"Be what you are," Maitreya teaches. "Do not surrender your self-respect, your dignity, to others. Do not allow anyone to cast his shadow over you. A master gives experiences, but does not cast his shadow."

"Do not follow one another. If you practice honesty of mind, sincerity of spirit and detachment, you will know your Self, you will know Me, you will know the Lord."

"I have not come to create followers," says Maitreya. "Each of you should continue to develop within your own religious tradition." A real disciple is one who will respect the traditions. Respect your own religions, your own ideologies - in brief, your own thoughtform, and you will experience the Master.

"Even when you see Me," He says, "do not run after Me. If you run after Me, you will lose Me. If you parade Me, you do not know who I am. I cannot be monopolized - I belong to everyone."

||| Share International and Tara Center

The information in this article was taken from a Special Information Issue of "The Emergence", which was itself excerpted from the monthly magazine, "Share International". "Share International" covers news, events, and comments bearing on Maitreya's priorities: an adequate supply of the right food; adequate housing and shelter for all; healthcare and education as a universal right; the maintenance of ecological balance in the world. The magazine is available by subscription from Share International Foundation, a non-profit organization who has NGO status at the United Nations. Abridged versions are available in Dutch, German, French and Japanese.

Tara Center is a non-profit, non-denominational spiritual organization founded in 1980. Its purposes are to disseminate information about the reappearance of the World Teacher, Transmission Meditation, and the global transformations now taking place. This work is carried out through a network of volunteers who give freely of their time, energy and resources. Tara Center is affiliated in purpose with the Tara Press, London; Share International Foundation, Amsterdam; and Tara Canada in Vancouver. Tara Center publishes a free monthly newsletter,

"The Emergence", which is available on request. It contains up-to-date information on the progress of Maitreya's emergence, excerpts from His teachings, and news of how networkers throughout the world are sharing this extraordinary news. It also published and distributes the books of Benjamin Creme.

Where Do We Go From Here?

Many who hear about Maitreya's presence in the world write Tara Center to ask "How can I help Him?" In the following quotations from "Messages from Maitreya the Christ", He answers this very question:

"Begin by dedicating yourself and all that you are and have been to the service of the world, to the service of your brothers and sisters everywhere. Make sure that not one day passes without some act of true service and be assured that My help will be yours."

"Many there are now who would gladly know that I am here. Tell them. Tell them that the Son of Man has returned, that their Elder Brother is among them, that the long wait is over, and fresh and eager for the battle has come their Friend and Leader."

"Many are the ways to serve; many are the paths of ascent.
No one today need feel deprived of a mode of service,
of a path forward to the future.
All paths, all means, flow to God.
Take, My friends, the nearest of these paths and with Me serve your brothers."

"Hopes now run high for My appearance.
Gladly would I present Myself to the people.
Look for Me then, and find Me waiting.
Search for Me then, and grasp My hand.
I need your help to come before you, to bless this world and teach, to show men that the way forward is simple, requires only the acceptance of justice and freedom, sharing and love." - Maitreya
